

Erin Weir

After graduating from university with a Bachelor of Marine Science with honours in environmental management, Erin Weir was working as a Landcare Facilitator in Gippsland. She felt she needed to upskill in leadership and management to become a better project manager. She was successful in receiving a Wettenhall Environment Trust Leadership Development Grant in 2020.

With the Leadership Development Grant, Erin was able to pay for two courses - Double Diploma in Leadership and Management, and Business. Exactly how the Leadership Development Grant was intended, Erin sought to increase her capacity to be a leader in the conservation field.

At the time of writing, Erin has changed jobs and is now employed as the Project Coordinator for the Gippsland Lakes. We sincerely hope that the professional development she undertook will help her succeed, and to become (and remain) an active leader in landscape and river restoration.
